ADVANCED INTELLIGENCE SEMINAR (AIS)

The thirteenth running of the Advanced Intelligence Seminar (AIS) is scheduled for two and a half weeks, full time, 9 January through 25 January 1974. One of the core courses recommended for specific stages of an individual officer's career, the AIS is designed for experienced middle and senior level officers (minimum grade GS-13) from all components of the Agency. The Seminar is held to about 25 members during each running.

The AIS begins with a brief review of across-the-board problems of the Agency and the Intelligence Community. It then concentrates its attention on a number of significant international and domestic developments, particularly as they bear upon the U.S. intelligence effort in the 70's. The Seminar draws upon knowledgeable speakers from both inside and outside government and strives to establish an atmosphere of frank, in-depth dialogue among speakers and participants.
